OBJECTIVE

I am a passionate and driven software development student with a strong foundation in Java, JavaScript, and SQL, seeking an internship position to further develop my skills in a real-world environment. I am committed to contributing to the success of your team by applying my technical knowledge and problem-solving abilities to innovative projects. I am a quick learner with a keen interest in expanding my expertise in software development, particularly in backend and full-stack roles. With excellent teamwork and communication skills, I am eager to collaborate with experienced professionals and take on new challenges that will enhance my professional growth. I am fully prepared and enthusiastic about relocating anywhere in South Africa to gain valuable industry experience and make meaningful contributions to your organization.
